The MacIntyre Family Singers*

“Siblings make beautiful music together, despite disabilities.”

The Wall Street Journal

Again this year, we also present “A” class entertainment - a captivating family quartet, the MacIntyre Family Singers.

They have performed across the US, Eastern Canada, and the UK. Comprised of Katelyn, 16 years old, Todd, 19, Scott, 22, and Carole (mother), their award-winning performances have drawn comparisons to Manhattan Transfer, Selah, and Josh Groban. Their self-titled debut CD is a 14 track collection of Jazz, Gospel, Classical, and A’cappella music.

The siblings make beautiful music together, despite disabilities - Scott and Katelyn were born with Leber’s congenital amaurosis, which has impaired their vision since birth. Scott’s field of vision is about 2 degrees; Katelyn’s, only slightly wider. Visit their website at: www.scottmacintyre.com.
